Thaw's Defender Appeals in $60,000 Fee Action

John B. Gleason, of New York, who defended Harry Thaw when he was indicted for murder in 1906, has appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States to review the decision of the circuit court of appeals for the second circuit, which refused to allow him $60,000, alleged to be due him from Thaw.

GARDNER TO FIGHT FOR RULE CHANGES

Will Press Several Reforms
in House Business Methods
at the Current Session.

Congressman Gardner, who is a consistent insurgent on the rules of the House, is determined to press at this session several reforms in the method of doing business in the lower body. He has already put up to the Rules Committee three decided changes, as follows:

That no member shall vote on the plea that he did not hear his name called.

That no pairs shall be published in the record, unless there is revealed the attitude of the paired members on the pending question.

That not more than two hours of general debate shall be allowed on any bill on calendar Wednesday, unless the House, by a two-thirds vote, declares for longer discussion.

The first of these reforms will discommodate the member who remains inattentive when the roll is called, and who then rushes in from the lobby or the back of the hall and asserts that he did not hear his name called. The second suggestion is to break up the promiscuous pairing by members who remain away from the House for days at a time on the excuse that they are "paired" with an opponent. The Gardner proposal for limited debate on calendar Wednesday is to prevent filibustering. Heretofore bills have been "talked to death" on calendar Wednesday to prevent other bills from reaching their turn.

Army Changes.

Sergt. William C. Hunter, Company M, Fifth Infantry, of the Plattsburg, N. Y., barracks, has been transferred as private to the Signal Corps at Texas City, Tex. Lieut. C. W. Nimtz has been transferred to the bureau of steam engineering of the Navy Department.

ABANDONED CHILD IS LEFT IN LUNCHROOM

Little Virginia Girl Says Grandfather Deserted Her After Breakfast.

Abandoned, she says, in a lunchroom at 121 E street northwest by her grandfather, John Thompson, who had brought her to Washington from Warrenton, Va., Lucy Nelson, seven years old, is being cared for today at the House of Detention. The police have telephoned the Warrenton authorities to have her relatives send for her.

Thompson took the child into the lunchroom for breakfast yesterday morning. After finishing the meal, he asked the proprietor for permission to let her remain there an hour or so while he went out to look up his brother, whose address he had lost. He has not been seen since.

The police got into communication with the town sergeant at Warrenton this morning and were told by him that the Nelson girl had often been found wandering about the streets of the town.

Efforts on the part of the police to find the mother of a three-year-old colored girl found on the streets in Georgetown last Tuesday, have failed. The child is at the House of Detention, but unless her parents are located within the next day or so she will be turned over to some institution. The child cannot tell her name or where she lived.
